01 — INTRODUCTION

Welcome to Angels & Demons TCG

Welcome to Angels & Demons TCG, a strategic trading card game where Angels and Demons battle for power.

In each duel, you will summon powerful Monsters, use Magic, Trap, Relic and Arena Cards, and make strategic decisions to defeat your opponent.

Your goal is simple: reduce your opponent's Soul Cores to 0 and claim victory.

But victory requires more than powerful cards. You must decide when to summon your Monsters, when to attack, when to defend, and when to use your card effects.

How This Guide Works

This guide is designed for players who are new to Angels & Demons TCG.

You do not need to memorize every rule before playing your first duel. The guide introduces the game step by step, starting with the basic setup and gradually explaining turns, summoning, battles, and card effects.

For complete rules, advanced interactions, exceptions, and official rulings, refer to the Angels & Demons TCG Official Rules.

02 — BEFORE YOU START

Before beginning a duel, each player needs the following:

Main Deck

Each player uses a 50-card Main Deck. Your Main Deck can contain Monster, Magic, Trap and Relic Cards according to the official deck-building rules.

Soul Cores

Each player begins the duel with 10 Soul Cores. Soul Cores represent your remaining power in the duel. Certain battles and card effects can cause you to lose Soul Cores. Protect your Soul Cores at all times.

Playing Field & Opponent

Each player needs enough space to place their cards during the duel. Your field contains spaces for your Monsters and your Magic, Trap and Relic Cards. You can control up to 5 Monsters, 5 Magic, Trap and Relic Cards, and 1 Arena Card.

Angels & Demons TCG is played between two players. Each player brings their own deck and Soul Cores.

03 — UNDERSTANDING YOUR CARDS

Before playing your first duel, it is important to understand the different types of cards.

Monster Cards

Monster Cards are the main fighters of your deck. They can be summoned to the field and used to attack your opponent's Monsters. Monsters have battle statistics and abilities that determine how they perform during a duel. Some Monsters are Angels, while others are Demons. Choose your Monsters carefully and use them to build your strategy.

Magic, Trap, Relic & Arena Cards

Magic Cards: Provide powerful effects that can help you during the duel. They can be played from your hand during your Main Phase unless the card states otherwise.

Trap Cards: Cards that you prepare on the field for later use. Traps can be activated when their activation conditions are met.

Relic Cards: Provide special effects and advantages during a duel, supporting your strategy.

Arena Cards: Represent special areas of the battlefield and can influence the duel while active. Follow the instructions written on the card.

God Cards & Malakor: Among the most powerful cards with unique abilities, special requirements, and forms. Follow instructions printed on the card and official rules.

04 — SETTING UP THE DUEL

Once both players are ready, follow these steps to begin the duel.

Step 1 — Shuffle the Decks: Both players shuffle their own Main Deck. Decks are exchanged so each player shuffles their opponent's deck, then returned.

Step 2 — Draw 5 Cards: Each player draws 5 cards from the top of their deck to form their opening hand (keep hidden).

Step 3 — Place Your Soul Cores: Each player starts with 10 Soul Cores placed clearly visible.

Step 4 & 5 — Determine First Player & Begin: Determine who goes first using any mutually agreed method. The first player begins and cannot attack during their first turn.

05 — YOUR TURN & 06 — SUMMONING

Each turn is divided into four phases: Draw Phase → Main Phase → Battle Phase → End Phase.

Draw Phase: Draw 1 card at the beginning of your turn.

Main Phase: Summon Monsters, play Magic/Relic cards, set Traps, and activate effects. Normally 1 Normal Summon per turn.

Battle Phase: Monsters can attack once (Defense Position cannot attack). Choose a target.

End Phase: Resolve End Phase effects and pass the turn.

06 — Summoning Monsters

Normal Summon: Standard way, normally 1 per turn if space is available.

Offer Summon: Offer other Monsters as a cost following card requirements (does not count as normal summon).

Special Summon & God Cards: Follow specific card instructions and requirements for Special Summons and powerful God Cards.

07 — BATTLE

Attack Position: Can declare attacks against opponent's Monsters or directly when permitted.

Defense Position: Cannot declare attacks; uses Defense value when attacked.

Comparison & Defeat: Attack Position compares ATK vs LP. Defense Position compares ATK vs DEF. When LP or DEF reaches 0, the Monster is defeated and normally sent to the Graveyard.

Soul Core Loss: Losing a Monster in Attack Position, having no Monsters when attacked, or card effects can cause Soul Core loss.

08, 09, 10 & 11 — RULES & MECHANICS

08 — Magic, Trap, Relic & Arena Cards

Play Magic during Main Phase, set Traps before use, use Relics for strategic advantages, and follow Arena card instructions.

09 — Responses & Timing

Actions and attacks give response windows. Resolve responses and effects according to official timing rules. Tick effects continue over time.

10 — Advanced Mechanics

Sacrificing: Remove Monsters as cost (goes to Graveyard). Mind Control: Take control of opponent's Monster. Returning to Hand: Cards returned from field. Graveyard & Banished: Defeated/discarded cards go to Graveyard; banished cards are removed from normal play. Face-Down: Hidden until revealed.

11 — How to Win

Reduce opponent's Soul Cores to 0. Deck-Out: Lose when required to draw with no cards remaining. Other official loss conditions apply per rules.

12 — EXAMPLE DUEL

Both players shuffle, draw 5 cards, and start with 10 Soul Cores. Player 1 goes first, draws 1 card, summons a Monster during Main Phase, but cannot attack on Turn 1. Player 2 takes their turn, draws, summons a Monster, and enters the Battle Phase. Player 2 attacks Player 1's Monster. Battles are resolved, responses and Soul Core loss are applied, and turns continue until an official loss condition is met.
